A Man Who Executes The Law.

The people of Louisville and the whole country, have before them an interesting object lesson. During the absence of the Mayor from the city the acting Mayor undertook to suppress public gambling, and issued stringent orders to that effect. This sudden and unlooked for event created consternation among the gamblers, and some of them surrendered at once; but others took the orders as "whiff" and continued to run their nefarious business. The acting Mayor repeated his order, and announced his purpose to lead the police in person if the captains should prove insubordinate. Seeing that the acting Mayor was in earnest and had the law on his side, the police officers proceeded to obey his orders, and in a little while every public gambling house in the city was closed, and all the slot machines removed from the saloons.—Christian Companion.

Food For War Forces.

Japan is ordering for shipment from Kansas City, Omaha and Chicago, 2,500,000 pounds of corn and beef. She has already contracted in Cincinnati for 12,000 cases of mess beef. The same country is taking from a Chicago firm in 60,000 pound monthly shipments, 800,000 pounds of mess beef. Up to the 15th of this month, Japan will have taken from this country as food for her war forces about seven million pounds of mess and corned beef. Russian shipments of mess beef up to February 15th, from Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha, amounted to an aggregate of about six million pounds.

The Book Committees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in session at Cincinnati, are discussing the expediency of uniting the two book publishing concerns of the church located at Cincinnati and New York.

How to Keep Boys on the Farm.

The reasons why boys want to leave the farm are: first, because farm work is not made pleasant and interesting to them. Then, farmers continually complain there is no money in farming, and give their sons but little or no spending money, and no chance to make any at home.

Also, the education our children get in school gives them the impression, or idea, that there is no honor in farming; but in order to be a man of honor or distinction, one must be a President, Governor, Congressman, doctor, lawyer, preacher, or millionaire, etc. Thus our farm boys get in their minds that farm work is drudgery; poorly paid; without honor, needs no education, and not a fit place for a bright, intelligent young man. And at the first opportunity away from the farm they rush.

Now change these conditions and see the result. In the first place, let the farmer cheerfully do his work, not because he has to work on a farm for a living, but because he likes the work; feels a deep interest in it, and because it gives him a happy, healthy, good living. Let him carefully read good farm papers and books so as to be well posted on everything that pertains to his farm work, and also, general information, so he can give a reason to his boys why he does this and that, and not go at it blindly. Teach the boys to be interested in the business of the farm. Let them have a patch of their own or some live-stock, or both, and keep the profits of the same for a little spending money, and to invest in something that will do them good. Show them that you have confidence in them; have them give their opinion about this and that work. Let the older boys superintend some of the farm work market produce of the farm, and purchase or buy some of their own clothing. Give them books and papers to read that are interesting and suited to their age and understanding, and which give them the real, practical side of life and usefulness. Make home pleasant, first, by being kind and pleasant yourself, and then by getting such things as you can afford and that will be pleasant and entertaining to the children. And, last, but not least, if you can send them to a practical Agricultural College do it, and not to these theoretical, intellectual colleges that give only theory and general knowledge. Our school system needs to be changed from theory schools to practical schools.—A. J. Umholtz in Inland Farmer.

Now being published—St. Nicholas.

Slow Reading.

If you were to travel across an interesting land, would you prefer to go through on a limited express, or to walk through, with plenty of time for side excursions and sight-seeing? And yet—surely the moral is obvious. Some young readers find in a good book about a dozen times as much treasure as others carry away from it; and you are fortunate if you are like a young girl who said: "I can't read a good book fast. I can't understand it if I read it fast." She is likely to become well read in spite of herself. How many generations of men have been at work upon Shakespeare, Dante, and Homer, without any danger of exhausting the mine of wealth these offer. And the Bible—it is as exhaustive as eternity. No one ever will come to the end of the riches in that great library of every species of literature. Every wise man who has ever made a list of the greatest books in the world has put the Bible first. It is said that young people are reading the Bible less than they once did; if it be true, it is sure they are employing their reading hours to less advantage. Do all of you know the beautiful little "reading editions" now being published?—St. Nicholas.

Wireless Storm Warnings.

For some time it has been possible to foretell future storms by means of wireless telegraphy, many instruments having been constructed for this purpose which are founded on the same principle, that of simplified wireless telegraphy. The method of obtaining this result is to place on a high point—as elevated as possible—a metallic rod from 20 to 26 feet in height, called the antenna or shaft, which is designed to receive the electric waves. The storm discharges engender waves, which, after entering the antenna, are led to the warning apparatus by means of a conducting wire. This warning apparatus is formed of the famous small glass tube filled with filings which was invented by M. Brandy, these filings being non-conductors of the electric current except when they are acted upon by storm waves.

The circuit on which the tube is placed is charged with the current from a pile of three elements and the whole is connected with a bell. If there are no storm waves the current of the pile does not circulate and the bell remains mute, but when the waves occur the tube allows the current to pass and the bell rings. With an antenna twenty feet in height storm waves begin to sound a bell when the storm is still at a distance of sixty miles.—Ex.

From Japan.

Rev. David S. Spencer, D. D., of Factoryville, Penn., who with his wife are missionaries to Japan, are expected here March 1st to remain over the 6th. He has been engaged to present stereopticon views to our people concerning the sights and conditions of Japan, and on the 6th he will tell the people of the troubles and causes of same between Japan and Russia. This is the way he is appreciated:

Methodist Episcopal Church, / Bloomsburg, Pa., Nov. 4, '03.
The Rev. David S. Spencer, D. D., Factoryville, Pa.

My dear Dr. Spencer:—
The large audience who listened to you a night or two since in our church were delighted and inspired by both your pictures and your address. You brought Japan, its interesting people and customs, its marvellously rapid development, its strategic importance in any attempt to Christianize the East, so clearly before us, that I am confident that many of us felt as never before our duty to faithfully uphold the hands of that devoted little band who are laboring to bring Japan to Jesus. I wish that all our Methodist people could hear your message. Sincerely yours,
Signed: W. F. EVELAND.

This is the missionary through whom Mrs. James D. Tipton has been able to secure the real Japanese hand work productions she has been furnishing to our people. Mr. Spencer knows Japan, her needs and customs and will be glad to instruct our people concerning this nation.

One Cause of Lawlessness.

We are sure that the general government has no moral right to issue a license to do anything that is unlawful where it is done, and whenever it does it, it thereby sows the seeds of anarchy. It is not surprising that government officials are assassinated, when the government itself sanctions lawbreaking. It breeds contempt for law, and cultivates a disposition to trample upon the law whenever it stands in the way of one's desires. The stability of our republic and the welfare of the people depend upon the sacredness of law, and when the government winks at its violation in any respect, it puts a knife to its own throat, and invites the assassin's dagger. The assassination of Presidents, Governors, Revenue Officers, etc., should call to mind the fact that laxness in the enforcement of law, and winking at its violations, is to an extent responsible therefor.—Ex.

IN MEMORIAM OF FEBRUARY 15, 1898.

"Let us forget, lest we forget."

[Marvin D. FARR, Campden, Ky.]

Dreary loomed Havana's shadows, 'neath the crimson sunset glow;
Hiding away from Cuban widow, cowering fear of Spanish foe;
With no stars its gloom to lighten, save those gleaming from the West,
Where the battlements of Freedom timed the pulse of ocean's breast.

'Neath that flag our brave three hundred prompt to heed its lightest call—
Loving as their life, its honor, pledged in its defense to fall.
Dreaded perhaps its starry splendor, that earth's jeweled dome more bright
As the evening glory faded into semi-tropic night.

Dreaded, perchance, to earn fresh laurels to enwreath among the old
Or to lead, by deeds of valor, fiercer lustre to each fold.
Or, perchance, fond memories clung to each them fell reunion's bliss—
Wives' carous or parents' welcome, brothers' kiss,
Clasp, shy sweethearts' kiss,
And a smile of love or glory trembled o'er each bearded lip.

As a slumberous treacherous silence brooded o'er the gallant ship—
Silence broke by groan of anguish, vibrant with a giant's pain.
As supreme in awful horror in its death throes thrashed "The Maine."

Mourning country, bravest martyrs in sea's yawning gulf entombed;
Mourning O fathers, sons the noblest in their proud young manhood doomed.
Mourning O women, lost and defenseless telling o'er life's shifting sands,
Comfort, then, who none and nation held in hollow of thy hands.

For demanded were our bravest by "The Jewel of the Sea."
Ere the waves that kiss its pebbles echo softly "Cuba free."

BECKHAM COUNTY.

Some Facts and Observations About the Men Who Will Preside Over its Interests.

On Thursday the Governor made public his appointments for officers of his namesake, and the Commissioners who have in charge the providing of Court-house, offices, etc. They are as follows:

County Judge C. C. Brooks.
County Attorney J. W. Lusby.
County Clerk E. A. Evans.
Sheriff D. L. Goodin.
Circuit Court Clerk W. L. Gearhart.
Supt. of Schools J. A. Porter.
Jailer Odom Wallace.
Assessor Douglas Cline.
Surveyor G. M. Omlil.
Coroner W. B. Redwine.

MAGISTRATES.

District No. 1 P. A. Danaron.
District No. 2 J. Davis.
District No. 3 Rhos Masters.
District No. 4 S. E. Kibbey.
District No. 5 Joshua Stamper.

COMMISSIONERS.

R. S. Hitchens, T. J. Davis, and L. N. Raybourn.

Desires that our readers should know something of this latest addition to the counties of our State, the writer went to Olive Hill on Friday morning. As some of the appointees live in the country and others were not at home we met only three: County Clerk, E. A. Evans; County Attorney, J. W. Lusby; Supt. of Schools, J. A. Porter, hence there are many facts which we did not learn. Of one thing there can be no doubt, i. e.: the present Democrats who received appointments will not again serve the people, as the new county will be Republican by an estimated majority of 750 to 900.

We did not learn the political affiliation of the Magistrates and Constables, but of the others all are Democrats except the Superintendent of Schools of John and Jailer.

THE COUNTY JUDGE

C. C. Brooks lives at Olive Hill, and is at present in the employ of The Harrison-Walker Co., superintending their line of railroad. For several years he has been connected with railroading. He was a Captain in the Confederate army. We heard that he was much surprised that he should be thus honored.

COUNTY ATTORNEY.

J. W. Lusby will direct the county's legal affairs, piloting it through the breakers. He is a native of Owen county, Ky., was born January 1, 1872. He left "sweet Owen" about three years ago, a county whose Democratic majority is from 1,200 to what is needed. Having breathed such air he is Democratic. He located at Grayson, Carter Co., and began the practice of law, and for two years has given attention to newspaper work being editor of The Herald until January 1st. He married in Owen county Miss Emma V. Threlkeld. His family will continue at Grayson until he can arrange for a house here. He has never taken a course in a law college. He is a Knight of the Golden Eagle and a K. of P.

COUNTY COURT CLERK.

Emory A. Evans, the appointee for Clerk of County Court, is a native of Beckham county, near Upper Tycart. He is 34 years of age, married Miss Easton of Rowan county. For nine years he

J. C. W. BECKHAM, GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY,
FOR WHOM THIS COUNTY WAS NAMED.

taught in the county schools. He is a Democrat. He moved to Olive Hill 18 months ago and engaged in the livery business until Feb. 1. He is a brother of John G. Evans, now Superintendent of Feeble Minded Institute at Frankfort.

SHERIFF.

D. L. Goodin lives at Jacobs; he is a farmer and school teacher.

CIRCUIT CLERK.

W. L. Gearhart lives near Limestone; he is a farmer and school teacher.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

Jas. A. Porter was born in Nicholas county, Ky., January 8, 1875. His father moved to Beckham county, near Upper Tycart, about twenty-five years ago, hence he has been reared here. He married Miss Minnie, daughter of F. L. Jarvis, in 1897. For nearly seven years he lived near McGlone. His home was burned in September and within a few weeks he moved to Olive Hill. For eight years he has taught in the county schools. His chosen life work was to be that of a teacher, but his appointment as Superintendent will necessitate a suspension during his occupancy. In the new county there will be about sixty school districts with fully 4,500 children of school age. He is a Republican "from start to finish." He is not one who "grows more like his dad every day," for his father is a Democrat and fought for four years in the Confederacy. In the family there are six brothers—three Democrats and three Republicans.

JAILER.

Odom Wallace lives in Olive Hill and keeps a boarding house.

ASSESSOR.

Douglas Cline is a farmer and lives near Limestone.

SURVEYOR.

G. M. Omlil is a farmer and school teacher and lives at Counts Roads.

CORONER.

W. B. Redwine is a merchant and lives at Soldier. His firm is W. B. Redwine & Sons. He is a brother of the lawyers, Mat and D. B., and J. F. the Superintendent of Eastern Kentucky Asylum at Lexington.

MISCELLANEOUS.

None of these appointees had received their commissions at the time of our visit, in fact we do not know that they knew of their appointment.

Inasmuch as the county will be largely Republican and the tenure of office of appointees will be only until the next general election (time indefinite) we think the Governor did right in naming some Republicans.

We heard some objection made because the County Attorney was not and is not a resident of Beckham county. We are not posted, but presume the Governor and his advisors knew their business.

The location for the public building has not been generally discussed, but look out for advance in prices.

The new county is rich in fire clay, stone and has some fine coal. The timber interest is quite extensive.

We shall expect the advent of several lawyers.

"Everybody" is feeling good over the securing of a new county. Those who are in any way disappointed will no doubt soon be reconciled and will join in the general rejoicing and hustle for success.

G. W. E. Wolford, recently of Grayson, has moved to Olive Hill. For nine years he has been a practicing lawyer. He is 35 years old, taught school for ten years and is married. He is a Republican. Since he came to Olive Hill he has formed a law partnership with C. F. Cooper, a native of Carter, under firm name Wolford & Cooper. Mr. Cooper has practiced law, taught the town school last year and is now city attorney.

Yes, sirs, there will be a jollification after a while and lots of big folks will be there. More facts and observations will then be in order. In the meantime we will pick up an item occasionally. We are informed that the county has an area of about 403 square miles and 14,000 population two years ago. There are the following towns: Olive Hill, Soldier, Enterprise, Carter Limestone.

Gilbert Triplett, son of T. F. Triplett, elix, has purchased the Estes dairy and took possession Monday.

In Memory of Anderson Chenault.

Anderson Chenault, son of Anderson and Margaret K. Chenault, was born in Montgomery county, Kentucky, May 26, 1859, and died at Tampa, Florida, February 3, 1904.

The family comes of staunch, old Huguenot stock. The grandfather, David Chenault, a widely known and influential Baptist minister, emigrated from Virginia and settling in Madison county, there reared a large family. Two sons of David Chenault, Tandy and Anderson, Sr., settled in this county and at once won (and held to the day of their death) a deservedly high place in the esteem of their wide acquaintance, by reason of the high order of mental endowment, the strict integrity and keen business acumen displayed by each.

The subject of this sketch inherited in no small degree the mental endowment and upright business qualities that dwelt in the father and grandfather. His neighbors and friends knew him as a genial, successful business man, one to be relied upon to meet all his engagements, in any emergency. But it was reserved for those most closely allied to him to know the depth of loving manliness that was native to his heart. It was in the home circle, amid those he loved and who he knew loved him best, that he willingly dropped the mask and let flow, like a dancing brook, the inimitable wit and humor that made him so companionable a man. To wife and widowed mother he was always the helpful, patient, thoughtful husband and son, and the memory of these things rests with them like a kindly benediction. The death six years ago of his favorite brother, Walter, (who was also his business partner) was to him a woeful affliction, that cast a cloud over his life which never to the end seemed to be lifted. Like all strong men he did not give his love lightly, but where he did give it, it was well worth the having.

On that February morning in Tampa, so far away from the home to which he was so devotedly attached, when the stroke came that he never rose to realize it was the beginning of the end, he turned to his nurse and said, "I think this is dead, but I have no fear. I forgive all as I would be forgiven." Seeing his wife bending over him he quoted from the dear old Quaker poet whose writings he loved so well:

"Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through the Cypress trees!
Who has learned in the land of death
Nor looks to see the breaking day
Across the moon's uncertain play!
Who has not learned in the hour of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That Life is ever lost of Death,
And love can never last its own."
And then after a pause, murmuring:

"An angel form walks o'er the earth
With soft and silent tread,
And bears our best loved friends away
And then we call them dead."

He sank into that dreamless sleep from which he was only to awake to find he had crossed over the river and was resting under the shade of the trees on the other side. ***

Poultry Notes.

An important item in marketing poultry is to know the market.

If there is any better feed for hens than table scraps, it is hard to find. Give them to the fowls rather than to the hogs.

If you are willing to devote a little time each day to the care of the poultry on your farm they will give you big returns for the time invested. Try it.

Begin making preparations to get out your early hatched pullets, remember it is the early ones which you will have to depend on for eggs next winter when the price is the highest.

In order that a reasonable profit be obtained from the keeping of poultry one should devote the same thoughtful consideration to the business in hand that he would to any other commercial vocation. Failures in the poultry business are usually due to the mistaken idea that, "anybody can raise chickens."

While it is true every farm should be stocked with pure-bred poultry of the breed best liked by the owner, it is also true that not one farm in ten has anything better than scrabs. We have often wondered why the farmer who keeps blooded cattle and hogs, and knows they are the best, is still content to worry along with inferior poultry.

Very few farmers are so short of means that they cannot pay for at least one setting of eggs to start with. It takes several years to raise a flock of improved sheep or a herd of pedigreed cattle, but a flock of pure blooded fowls can be secured in a single year at the expense of only a few dollars.

The farmer who first takes up fine poultry in a neighborhood can generally make money in furnishing his neighbors eggs and fowls. Good stock once given a fair and impartial trial, will be conducive to pleasure as well as profit, and no inducement, however great, could make you change back to the common fowl.

Anyone who has room to keep chickens can also raise green stuff for them. Lettuce is one of the best green feeds, and it takes only a small plot to raise enough for a good sized flock of chickens. A friend who has only four city lots keeps 100 or more chickens and finds room to sow rare enough to furnish green feed all summer. He sows rare in one or two of his yards and after it gets six inches high, which is only a short time, he turns the chickens in and lets them strip it. Then they are turned into another yard which has been sown to rape, and while they are eating at that, the first starts up as green as ever.—Common Poultry.

Queer "Smokes."

In the Philippines the use of tobacco is universal. The native child acquires the tobacco habit as soon as it is able to walk. In the northern provinces especially it is no uncommon sight to see a child five or six years old puffing vigorously at a big cigar. The women smoke fully as much as the men, and commonly smoke cigars where the men use cigarettes. In the northern parts of Luzon immense cigars, often a couple of feet long and as thick as the wrist, are used. Such a cigar is suspended from a rafter of the house by a string, and smoked during the day by all the members of the family as desired.

At this season of the year, catarrhal troubles are very prevalent, and nearly every person suffers to a certain extent.

Catarrh is actually the result of a succession of colds and can be easily prevented if the proper treatment is followed.

Hyomei is a natural, yet scientific cure for the colds and grip troubles that lead to catarrh, as well as a positive cure for the disease itself.

The balsamic air of Hyomei breathed through the small pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit is filled with germ-killing and health giving qualities that penetrate to the minutest air cells of the head, throat and lungs. It kills all catarrhal germs, frees the mucous membrane from poisonous microbes, and makes a perfect and complete cure of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs only $1, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50c. W. S. Lloyd sells Hyomei on the "no cure, no pay" plan, and will refund the money if it fails to give perfect satisfaction. You take no risk whatever in using Hyomei. It is the only treatment sold under a guarantee of this nature where a leading local druggist agrees to return the money if the treatment fails to cure.

A Tight Chest,

Caused from heavy colds often leads to pneumonia. Paracamp will relieve this condition instantly. When applied, it stimulates the circulation and draws out all inflammation. You don't take it; rub it on. Don't delay. Get a bottle and use it today. 30 ct.

Honey a Valuable Food.

Honey is a valuable medicine and has many uses. It is excellent in most lung and throat affections, and is often used with great benefit in place of cod liver oil. Occasionally there is a person with whom it does not agree, but most people can learn to use it with beneficial results. Children who have natural appetites generally prefer it to butter. Honey is a laxative and sedative, and in diseases of the bladder and kidneys it is an excellent remedy.

THE LARGEST ORGAN

A World's Fair Attraction In Festival Hall.

INSTRUMENT OF 10,000 PIPES

The Great Pipe Organ Has One Hundred and Sixty Stops and is as Large as a Brick Block—Can Produce Over Seventeen Billion Distinct Tones.

The largest organ in the universe, a masterpiece of melody speaking in thunder tones, is the unparalleled attraction of the Hall of Festivals at the World's Fair.

It is an instrument capable of producing 17,736,816 distinct tones of effects, a continuous performance that would last 22,600 years, if a different one of these combinations were drawn every minute in those centuries of time.

This master melodian of the world is not measurably greater, but superlatively the greatest, than of harmony ever wrought by the hand of man.

The wonderful impressiveness of its proportions and its overpowering volume of sound are the least of its remarkable achievements in the realm of instrumental music. That its thousands of pipes sound the profoundest depths of the grand passions as easily as the wind stirs leaves to fairy cadences is an infinitesimal part of its accomplishments.

Efforts never heard outside the grand orchestra until the manufacture of this colossal piece of music have powers far in advance of other organs. All of the wood-wind instruments of the full band are contained within its vast compass.

Large as a brick block, 62 feet long, 40 feet high and 32 feet wide, and possessing 140 stops, 223 movements and 10,000 pipes, it now resides in the famous instrument of Christendom. It cost approximately $100,000. Only the master musicians may command its marvellous volubility.

Two electric motors, each of 10 horse power, drive this factory of sound, the construction of which required 100,000 feet of lumber and 115 miles of wire. The metal pipes alone consumed 16,000 pounds of steel and 9,000 pounds of soft metal; its wood-pipe contains 35,000 feet of California sugar pine.

The two pipes drawing the lowest tones are each 32 feet long; two good sized men, side by side, or a small organ can pass through them. A train of 10 cars is needed to transport the monster from Los Angeles, Cal., to St. Louis.

The only organ in the world that even approaches this one is the immense instrument in the Town Hall at Sydney, New South Wales. The Australian giant has 123 stops as compared with the 140 stops of the World's Fair champion.

The next organs in rank are those of the cathedral at Riga, Russia, with four manuals and 124 stops; Albert Hall, London, four manuals, 109 stops; Garden City, N. Y., four manuals and 115 stops; Chicago Auditorium, four manuals and 111 stops; Leeds Town Hall, England, four manuals and 110 stops; Seville, Spain, three manuals and 110 stops; St. Sulpice, Paris, five manuals and 100 stops; St. George Hall, Liverpool, four manuals and 100 stops; and the Uth cathedral, four manuals and 100 stops.

Five separate organs are combined within this enormous mass of masonry, electrical mechanism and steel pressure: The first, or great organ; the second, or choir organ; the third, or swell organ; the fourth, or solo organ; and the fifth, or organ organ. The organ alone is 18 feet high, 17 feet wide and 10 feet deep. It has a special bellows 12 feet long by four feet wide, operated by a motor of one and one-half horse power.

The five organs are a motorized play at one time by a double roll self-performing attachment, on a separate console or key desk. This arrangement draws out the tremendous power and beauty, a feat utterly beyond the range of human fingers.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES FOR VISITOR TO WORLD'S FAIR.

A novel and useful concession at the World's Fair will be that of the Safety Deposit vault. This concession, which was recently granted, will be of great convenience to visitors. A fireproof building containing about 2,000 safety deposit boxes will be erected. The location will probably be at the northern end of the Model street. Visitors may leave their valuables and such money as they do not need for the moment in the boxes without danger of loss or theft. They need carry only enough cash for their immediate use, returning to the safety deposit boxes to retrieve their exchequer.

Kentucky Tobacco Sales.

The tobacco growers of Webster county have taken steps to abandon the crop of 1924 in order to checkmate the trust.

President W. B. Hawkins, of the Kentucky Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, announces that the project has been successfully financed.

In Harrison county twenty crops of tobacco, aggregating 175,000 pounds, were sold at prices ranging from 8 1/2 to 14 cts., an average of about 10 cents.

J. Frank Ladd and Sheriff Alex. Wallace were the first at Cadiz, Ky., to sell their tobacco this season. Mr. Ladd got $5 per hundred, and Mr. Wallace, who had two crops, received $5.50 per hundred for one crop and $5 for the other one. This is about 75 cents cheaper per hundred than the same quality of tobacco sold last year.

Ed. Downing, of Fayette county, has just sold the first crop of white Burley tobacco ever raised in this section under canvas. He realized 11 cents per pound for about 4,000 pounds, which was a little more than half the price he expected. The experiment, however, proved to be a success, as the quantity was about three times the amount usually raised in the open. Downing will raise a large crop of the white Burley under canvas this year.—Danville News.

Joe Houston and W. L. Moore, of Elizabeth, sold their crop of 10,000 pounds of tobacco, to Abner & Mueson, at 8 cents. It was raised on eight acres of land.

Oscar Johnson sold Lee Bros., 13,200 pounds of tobacco, which was raised on six acres of measured land, average 2,200 pounds per acre at 9 cents. Bert McClintock sold same, 19,000 pounds at 12 cents, with $75 on crop. Thos. McClintock sold same, 8,000 pounds at 10 cents. Gran Allen to same, 12,000 pounds at 9 and 5 cents. Dr. Henry Peterson and John Ryan sold same, 30,000 pounds at 9 cents.—Bourbon News.

Lynchings.

The total number of lynchings for 1923 includes 92 in the South and 12 in the North; 86 negroes, 17 whites and one Chinaman; 109 men and 3 women. The two principal alleged crimes were murder, 47 cases; and criminal assault, 20. Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, and Mississippi led the list with 11, 12, 14, and 15 respectively. Alabama, which used to be notorious for lynchings, had only two cases, and there were two Southern States, Maryland and Virginia, which had none.

"Gentlemen," said the impassioned orator, "I cannot tell a lie." "Then what are you doing in politics?" interrupted a man in the audience.—Chicago Evening Post.

A LEAP YEAR POEM.

Just a leap-year, I wish to say,
To the sweetest girls so far away,
In that sunny land of the West,
Where the girls always look their best.

Just a leap-year, I don't mean
Just a leap-year, girls, you know
The only times that you can now
May, and show the fields of gold,
Where many a boy has often trod.

Just a leap-year, I don't mean
That love is only a happy dream;
But just now I can't say,
For I am sure other girls' heads.

Sheep and Swine in the South.

The feeding of animals will never be the main occupation of farmers in the central portion of the United States. But it will, we may be sure, be really the most important, because so much other farm work depends for its profit on it. The key is not the main part of a door, but yet it is most essential to the use of it. Thus we may say, with truth, that the farmer who is not feeding sheep or swine is missing a very important economic necessity of his business. Of late the sheep has come very rapidly to the very front in the estimation of farmers as a most convenient profit-maker. It is beyond question, that an equal sum of money invested in a well-selected flock of sheep will pay two or three times the proportion of profit that cattle or swine will do, but it is more profitable and more convenient for any ordinary farmer who has his farm in an undeveloped condition, to keep swine than sheep. Swine are self-defensive. They are not naturally the prey of dogs, and hence they are more generally kept than sheep are. Sheep are really the most satisfactory choice of good farmers, and a flock feeding in a well-kept meadow puts a stamp of character on the owner of that farm. As the time is now soon coming when the selection of a flock of sheep will be the most profitable addition to the farm stock that can be made, attention is just now called to the subject as a matter for due consideration very soon.

As to swine, these are necessary to the full completion of the farm stock, but for the full profit of them there must be a stated place for them in the distribution of the work. Perhaps it may be, "shall we keep sheep or swine?" Is it best to keep both or only one, and, if this, which one? The question is put before our readers in the hope that some expression of opinion may be given to evoke discussion.

More About Poultry.

Farmers are too much given to the habit of changing breeds, and they very often swap Plymouth Rocks for Wyandottes, and Wyandottes for Langshans with the thought of gaining something in the way of eggs. When winter is at hand and their hens are doing poor service in the way of laying, they hear of some one who is regularly marketing a large number of eggs, and the first inquiry they make of this individual, if they come within speaking distance of him, is "What breed of chickens do you keep?" The person addressed is ready enough to give the name of his breed. It is a good breed to keep. He has the proof of it in the excellent record they are making as winter layers. We will assume that he makes no misrepresentations. There is no need of his doing this. He is a competent poultryman, and the simple truth is showing enough to make it plain that he is the possessor of good stock.

Lookout for Him.

A slick agent is now working the State on a new advertising scheme. He gets out a catalogue of a rural route, with the name of all the patrons, and solicits the merchants to put in their ads, on the plea that the patrons on the route are expecting the merchants to help pay the expenses of the catalogue under penalty of being boycotted. It is a similar scheme to the hotel directory and such.

"They may abuse Wall street all they please," said the Philadelphia man, "but I don't see $700 ahead the last time I was here."

"How did you do it?" asked his friend.

"Left the money at home," replied the wise Quaker.—Chicago News.

Notes on Many Subjects.

Don't forget the birds. Put out a few crumbs.

A blanket under the sheet adds much to the warmth of a bed.

A fig split 'open makes a good poultice for a boil. It is especially useful for gunbolls. A split raisin is also good.

Doors made entirely of paper are now being used in France. They are finished to resemble wood, and neither warp, shrink nor crack.

Ironing the feet of stockings with a warm iron will be found to make them wear longer and be much more comfortable to the feet.

Dwellers in the Ice.

The Etahyau, or "arctic highlanders" of Ross, live in ice caves within the vast glacier cap which covers all Northern Greenland. Theirs is perhaps the most wretched and isolated existence it is possible to conceive.

Their "dwellings" are always wet, owing to the melting of the ice walls and floors. For full six months of the year the darkness of the arctic night envelops them. The ice is around them, beneath them, above them. In nine cases out of ten if they venture abroad they breathe the frozen particles, and the sensation is akin to that which comes from inhaling the blast of a furnace.

Nevertheless, they refuse to move farther south with the approach of winter, as do all the other Eskimo tribes. They take a sort of perverted pride in their loneliness as in their misery. "What matter," they say, "if we are cold and hungry? We are the last of all peoples. We dwell literally at the end of the world. To the north of us there is nothing that lives, breathes or has independent movement."—Pearson's.

A Red Hot Stove

Burns when you touch it, but if you have Paracamp, first aid to the injured handy and apply freely, the pain is relieved quickly, and it heals without leaving an ugly scar. There is nothing so good for burns, cuts, and bruises as Paracamp. Try a 25c bottle. 30 3c

The wiser we grow the less advice we give, the fewer are our opinions and the more lenient our judgments.

Patience Wins.

Patient efforts win. That is what a young lady told a youth when he started out into the world to learn a trade or a profession. He studied law, medicine, philosophy, architecture, and then decided to be a civil engineer. He failed at everything he tried, except to smoke a pipe. In coloring a meerschau pipe he held his course through thick and thin, and succeeded. That is one instance to prove that patient effort wins. Well, he had good chances, but he threw all the others away because he did not persevere.

Boys, what do you think are the greatest secrets of success? Don't you think one is to learn wisdom of the wise and experienced and so escape many failures? I honestly believe I can do this, and I am trying hard to set up to my belief. Another secret is to be strictly honest. By this I do not mean not to steal, for that goes without saying; but the term honesty, covers a much wider ground. The young man who, before his beard is grown, seeks to evade his little debts at college and elsewhere, has already laid a sure foundation upon which to build disgrace and utter failure. Nothing is found out about a man so quickly, or sticks to him so long, as a reputation for dishonesty.

Boys are blind to the shadows which habits of sharp dealing and false speaking, formed in the days of youth, will surely throw down the whole pathway of life. When they enter into business, they will ask for patronage from the public, and will then find that in damaging their character they have already squandered their best capital. As the boy begins, so the man is apt to end. The boy who, whether rich or poor, dull or clever, looks straight in the eye and keeps his answer inside of the truth, wins real friends and holds a capital which will bring him in a surer and more valuable interest than mere money can ever do. Strict integrity, energy, determination, and a right motive are the levers that move the world.

Discretionary With Council.

At Winchester on February 10, an interesting case was tried in the Circuit Court. Since 1899 liquor has been sold in one of the five precincts of the city, the other four being dry. The present City Council has refused to grant any liquor licenses, and suit was brought in the Circuit Court to compel the granting of licenses, but Judge Benton decided that the Council had the right to grant or refuse license in their discretion.

Why Your Coffee Is Bad.

Bridget is an excellent cook, but like most women of her profession she is opinionated and insists upon making all her dishes strictly according to her own recipes. Her mistress gives her full swing, not only as to cooking, but as to the purchase of supplies. The other day her mistress said to her:

"Bridget, the coffee you are giving us is very good. What kind is it?"

"It is no kind at all, mum," said Bridget. "It's a mixer."

"How do you mix it?"

"I shake it one quarter Mocha, and one quarter Java and one-quarter Rio."

"But that's only three quarters. What do you put in for the other quarter?"

"I put in no other quarter at all, mum. That's where so many spoil the coffee, mum—by puttin' in another quarter."

DRESS AND MANNERISMS.

Changes in Styles Have Much to Do with One's Bearing.

"To those of us who are interested in the study of the ordinary phases of humanity," said the observant old gentleman, according to the St. Louis Republic, "there is perhaps nothing more astonishing than to note the change that dress and a certain knack of the manners bring about in one's manners. To be a little more definite, let me put it in this way: The change of style in clothes affects the mannerisms of the wearer."

"Why, I hadn't noticed it," exclaimed the hopelessly matter-of-fact person, trying to appear interested as well as surprised by the old gentleman's statement.

"Well, I suppose you are not of sufficiently advanced age to have observed the fact of which I speak," added the elderly one. "But in my case it has made quite an impression."

"Now, for instance, we will take the case of a man first. The stately, graceful deliberation of old went with the decadence of snuff-taking. That, you see, required ease and a certain knack of the thumb and other fingers. The ease with which a cigar or a cigarette can be lighted involves no grace or charm of manner. Men in these times are brusque of manner; may not the wearing of thick and clumsy shoes have something to do with it?"

"But it is in the case of women that we see the idea fully exemplified. The mannerisms of the fairer sex vary with the changes of fashion. Let me indicate a few such changes: 'Take the days when the dear things wore hoops. These gave them a mincing tread. When they sat down it was with much skill and grace that they smoothed out their skirts, because, you see, a carelessly managed hoopskirt had an irritating way of flying up unless you were vigilant. But when the old 'pull-backs' came in there was a great difference in the walk of your lady fair. She could not walk very freely; she merely glided."

"When the bustle put in an appearance another mannerism came in with it, and every woman duffed up her back in a series when she arose from a sitting position."

"Of course, you remember how, a few years ago, when the girls had a way of pulling their veils very tightly across their faces, everyone of them became 'gimberjaws,' from pulling down their veils with their outstretched chins."

"It was not so very long ago that a lady would indulge in the little mannerism of picking out her huge sleeves."

"Just now, take a girl that is in the least embarrassed, or let her be a little more than usually conscious of her personal appearance, and what does she do? Why, her hands automatically fly to her waistline. She gives an anxious touch to the back of her belt, and then with both hands she pushes it down in front."

"There's no doubt that styles bring mannerisms."

DRAINING THE ZUYDER ZEE

Daring and Picturesque Engineering Project of the Dutch.

The Dutch people propose to reclaim the whole of the Zuyder Zee from the grasp of the ocean, says Walter Wellman, in McClure's. It is a vast, a daring, project, the most picturesque engineering enterprise known to the world to-day. An isthmian canal may cost more money; but an isthmian canal is, after all, only a great ditch. While other nations are seeking colonial expansion the Dutch propose to create a hinterland at home. They propose to reclaim from the waters an area equal to one-fourteenth of all the present Holland. They propose to add nearly one-tenth to the area of cultivable land in their country. They propose to find new homes, where now the sea ranges, for a population equal to four per cent. of all the inhabitants of the Netherlands. In the United States an enterprise of relative proportions would involve the creation of a new state like Missouri or Texas, the reclamation of land enough for more than three millions of people to live upon and thrive by agriculture.

GOOD AS GOLD.

Who Will Say This Mt. Sterling Resident Exaggerates?

Statements by people we know—who live within a short walk of us—do not seem so exaggerated or impossible as those of strangers living in far off cities. Too much chance to deceive with long distant testimonials. Not so at home. Read this Mt. Sterling testimony concerning Doan's Kidney Pills.

Samuel T. Greene retired farmer and feed dealer, residing on High street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were worth their weight in gold to me. That is my opinion and the following are my reasons. For a good many years I suffered with kidney trouble brought on, I believe by straining myself at heavy lifting and hard work while on the farm. The dull aching across the small of my back and the sharp pains if I stooped or straightened, made life anything but pleasant to me. There was also a very annoying and distressing urinary difficulty particularly observable at night. I took all kinds of medicine supposed to be good for kidney trouble and doctored a great deal but without obtaining any noticeable benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Duerson's drug store. The change the first box made in my condition was surprising and I continued the treatment by taking another, when all symptoms of disordered kidneys disappeared and I felt myself cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no substitute. 29-2c

A dispatch from Columbia, Mo., says that great alarm exists among the stock raisers and farmers in that vicinity over the prevalence of cholera among the hogs. Every effort thus far made to arrest the progress of the disease has proved unavailing. It is estimated that the loss during the year from the disease, now at the proportions of an epidemic, will approximate $1,000,000. The agricultural board has stopped all St. Louis and Kansas City shipments.

Cure for Hog Cholera.

After experimenting for three years, Dr. R. E. Graham, recent bacteriologist of Missouri University, has announced that hog cholera can be cured by inoculation, the same as "Texas fever" among cattle. One hundred hogs were recently inoculated with a serum and then exposed to the disease, and none was infected. Several hogs that had cholera were cured by inoculation.

Valentine Party.

The valentine party given at the home of N. H. Trimble on Saturday evening was one of the nicest and most informal entertainments it has ever been our privilege to attend. The old-time spelling match was one of the evening's features and was closely contested, with Capt. F. W. Bassett on one side and Capt. J. R. Hobbs on the other. A source of revenue was the candy tables and chocolate table. It was a grand success socially and financially.

February Court.

About 750 cattle on the market. The quality was good. Trade was not so brisk as last court, but prices were a shade higher. 800-lb. steers sold at 4¢ for the best; common, 3 1/2¢; yearlings, 3 1/4 to 4¢; heifers, $3 to $3.65, the latter price for some fat ones; cows, 3 to 3 1/2¢; bulls, 3¢. Good sized crowd at the pens and they wanted stock but prices were too high for brisk trading. A great many buyers said that they would do without cattle rather than buy at the prices asked, and from present prospects we are inclined to think they are taking a sensible view of the matter.

SALES.

M. T. Wilson sold 10 700-lb steers to R. Donaldson, of Bath county, at 4¢.

Dan Welch sold 6 550-lb heifers to J. T. Denton, of Fayette county, at $3.15. Same party bought some 900-lb cows at $3.25 of Chas. McGuire.

Oscar Moss bought 5 650 lb steers of Zack Conner at 4¢.

Jas. Ingram sold some 900-lb fat cows to Mr. Wilson at $3.25.

Sam Greenwood bought some 700-lb fat heifers of Arch Prewitt at $3.65.

Ab Hall, of Powell county, bought 35 about 650 lb yearlings of Green Allen at $27 per head.

Ben Murphy sold 10 600-lb heifers to J. T. Denton, of Fayette Co., at $3.25.

Zach Conner sold 6 400-lb heifers at 3¢.

HORSES AND MULES.

The largest run of mules for a long time—between 400 and 500 mules on the market. Trade dull and prices were from 5 to 10¢ per head lower than last court. Some 16-hand mare mules sold at $335 to $350, 15 1/2 mules at $325 per pair, 15-1 mare mules at $300, 15-hand mules at $25 to $130, small mules at $5 to $100. Trade was rather dull as sellers were slow to take the reduced prices. A few horses sold; plugs at 50 to $75, fat horses at 100 to $125, some good at $150. No fine horses sold.

Marshall Arnold, of Fleming, sold a saddle horse for $150.

Horses in Demand.

The outlook for the horse industry was never before more promising. With the progress of national development has materialized increased demand for horses. So pronounced has been the enlarged use of horses for the past five years that domestic consumption has nearly exhausted the supply. The surplus is so light that prices have remained nominally stationary, while other classes of live stock have declined in value materially. All the modern industrial developments of civilized nations were made possible by the use of horses, and the future demand promises to be of increased proportions. Horses for general utility use are indispensable and as nations advance in wealth and affluence the demand for horses is intensified. There are no substitutes to eliminate the noble equine in his sphere of usefulness in the progress of mankind. The equine fashion of the twentieth century will be repeated in the succeeding cycle, and the future of the industry is brilliant with encouraging promise. The breeder who raises good horses of any commercial class is assured of a stable and remunerative market for his surplus and has every encouragement to intelligently exploit the industry.—Drovers Journal.

To Prevent Fraudulent Disposition of Mortgaged Property

The following bill has been introduced by our Representative at Frankfort, Jao. W. Cravens:

"That if any person shall fraudulently sell, conceal or dispose of any personal property on which there is at the time a mortgage of record, with intent to prevent the enforcement of the lien thereon, or the foreclosure of the mortgage and sale of the property, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be confined in the State penitentiaries not less than one nor more than five years.

That all acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

That this act shall take effect from and after its passage."

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grubbs entertained at cards Friday evening.

Miss Rose Goodman entertained most delightfully the Sewing Club on Saturday afternoon with a valentine party.

The Valentine social given at the Mitchell building by the C. W. B. M. was very pleasant. The receipts were more than $50. Decorations in red and white were attractive and the event was a great success.

Mrs. James Kennedy, at her country home, entertained many friends at cards on last Thursday afternoon. The decorations were hearts, and an elaborate luncheon was served.

Miss Mary Tibbs entertained in honor of her Thursday School class, numbering about 40 young men and women, at her home on Saturday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock. There were 50 guests. A string band furnished the music. The house was elaborately decorated in white and red hearts. Games were a part of the program. Delightful refreshments were served, and the evening was very pleasantly spent.

DEATHS.

See Memorials and Resolutions of Respect are charged for. Death notices are free.

JACKSON.—At Kiddleville on Thursday evening, February 11, 1904, the 6-year-old son of Dan Jackson died of brain fever.

We were in error in stating that the child of Elgin Northcutt which died was 2 years old. We were so informed. It was the infant of Mr. and Mrs. Northcutt which died.

HURST.—Willie May Hurst, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hurst, of Jackson, died Tuesday morning, February 2, 1904, after an illness of several weeks.

STEPHENS.—Laura Woodbridge, aged 14, daughter of H. C. Stephens, of Sharpsburg, died of diphtheria on Tuesday night, February 9, 1904, and was buried on Wednesday.

FISHER.—Mrs. L. J. Fisher, of Harrodsburg, died on Monday, February 8, and her intimate friend, Mrs. A. C. McMorde, of same town, died on Tuesday. Both were members of Methodist Church, and Daughters of the Confederacy.

WILLOUGHBY.—On last Friday evening at 10:30 o'clock Mr. William Thomas Willoughby, aged 36 years, died of pneumonia. Funeral service was held in the North Middle town Christian Church Sunday morning by Rev. C. W. Dick. Burial in the North Middletown cemetery. Mr. Willoughby came from North Middletown to this place four years ago and followed his trade, that of a blacksmith, until a year ago when he took charge of the livery and feed stables on Bank street. He was a member of the Christian Church. He leaves one brother, O. M. Willoughby, of this city.

LAGAN.—Chas. G. Ragan died in this city on Wednesday morning, February 10th, 1904. He was born in this county about 64 years ago. He was united in marriage to Mrs. Maggie Horton February 7, 1871. They have one son, Hanly C. Ragan, who for some years has lived in Louisville. He was a soldier in the Confederate army, and at the battle in Cynthia, Ky., he lost an arm. After the war he was elected sheriff of this county and served one term. During a meeting at the Christian Church, this city, conducted by Pres. B. A. Jenkins in April 1902, Mr. Ragan made a confession of his short comings and desired to be again associated with God's children; and took membership with that congregation. This was the bravest act of his life and was most commendable and worthy. He has entered into the rest that awaits the people of God. The funeral service was held on Friday morning at the home of John Haydon where he and his wife had rooms, conducted by Revs. H. D. Clarke and H. G. Turner. The burial was in Machpelah. To his family we extend our sympathy.

GAMES.—Miss Elizabeth Games, aged 72 years, died at her late home in this city, Monday, February 15, 11:30 o'clock. Funeral service was conducted at the Baptist Church by Rev. J. R. Hobbs Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and the remains were taken to Frankfort this morning for burial. The subject of this notice was a sister of the late John P. Games and leaves a sister, Mrs. Mike Schlosser, this city, and a brother, Mr. Richard Games, of Louisville. Miss Games was converted and became a member of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, Franklin county, when fifteen years of age. She has kept the faith, doing what she could for the local church, for its objects, the kindred, the orphans and was not forgetful for those who were aliens to grace. For sixty-eight years two sisters, Mrs. Schlosser and the deceased, grew, walked, toiled and loved. Pitiful indeed it was to see the deep mourning of the one left and hear her sob and cries, "How can I live without her?" We love to think of one with a life so pure and to point to her example as one worthy to be imitated. The time of separation will be short. Deceased had chosen the ever living Savior, and those who have exercised the same faith are certain to meet and be with her throughout the endless eternity. We are going to miss her at home, in her place of worship, but we shall ever remember her as one of God's elect. Her brother, Richard Games, and Rev. J. W. Burdin and son, L. E. Burdin, and Mrs. Sue Graves, of Frankfort, were at her bedside when the end came and were here when the last sad rites were performed.

PITMAN.—Robert M. Pitman died at his home on Harrison Avenue in this city on Monday morning, February 15, 1904. He has been sick since December 1, with heart disease. He was about 44 years old and was a son of J. S. Pitman, now of Salt Lake. His first wife was Miss Kate Blevins. To them were born three children. For many years the family lived near Corinth Church on Steptone. His wife died October 6, 1895. His second marriage was to Miss Louisa Wamsley, of this city, in September 1903. Since then they have moved to town. The funeral service was conducted at the home by Rev. H. D. Clark on Tuesday afternoon, and the burial was in Machpelah by the I. O. O. F. and A. O. U. W. He has two brothers, Charles, of this city, and Turner, of Texas, a sister, Mrs. Alice Hostetler, of Lexington. Mr. Pitman was a member of the Corinth Christian Church, and was a worthy citizen and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

HANEY.—On last Tuesday, the 9th, of pneumonia, infant daughter of Elmer Haney and wife, aged 11 months. Prayer service was at the home by Rev. G. A. Joplin, after which remains were buried in W. C. T. U. Cemetery.

PUNCH.—Mrs. Maude, widow of Jao. H. Punch, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Matthews, in this city on Tuesday, February 16, 1904, at 2:30 o'clock. As we go to press no arrangements had been made for funeral service. She was truly a christian and has entered into the christian's reward.

PATRICK.—Mrs. Alice May Patrick, aged 21 years, wife of Thos. M. Patrick, died at their home near North Middletown, on Tuesday, February 16, 1904, at 10:30 o'clock. The funeral service will take place at the Christian Church in North Middletown today (Wednesday) at 3 o'clock p. m., conducted by Rev. L. H. Reynolds. The burial will be at that town. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Denton, of this county. She leaves an infant. The sympathy of their many friends is extended.

JARMON-PERKINS.

G. E. Jarmon, a farmer of Kenton county, and Miss M. M. Perkins, of Grassy Lick, were married at St. Paul Church in Lexington Tuesday, February 16, 1904. For three years the bride has taught school at Grassy Lick very acceptably to the patrons.

The Flemingsburg Time Democrat notes the marriage, in Knoxville, Tenn., of Miss Lula Kemper, of Chicago, to a wealthy Montana ranch owner, and says they will probably make a trip to Europe. Miss Kemper visited the family of S. T. Greene and other relatives in this city and county a short while ago, and will be remembered as a charming and accomplished young lady. We extend best wishes.

Senator Hanna Dead.

Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, United States Senator from Ohio, died from typhoid fever on Monday evening at 6:40 o'clock, in the Arlington Hotel, Washington, D. C. Senator Hanna had been kept alive two days by powerful stimulants. The official funeral service will be held in the Senate chamber at noon to-day, after which his body will be carried to Cleveland, Ohio, for final service and interment. When death came all the members of the family were present but Mrs. Hanna and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna, Mrs. Hanna is standing up nobly under the great shock.

Senator Hanna was a man of great will power and had many friends among the great men. Spontaneous outbursts of tribute are heard regarding the Senator as a leader among men, politically and financially. His taking away will be an immeasurable loss to the Republican party. The final service will be held on Friday, and Bishop Leonard, of the Episcopal Church, will most likely officiate. Senator Hanna has been a leader of the Republican party and his place will be hard to fill, and it matters not what has been said for, or against Senator Hanna, his name will be recorded in history as one of the great men of the 20th century.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. McGee, of Lexington, will preach at Corinth on Sunday.

Mr. L. P. Leavel, of Jackson, Miss., Secretary of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, will be at the Baptist Church Sunday, February 21, and will speak three times during the day on methods of Sunday School work. Invitations have been sent the Sunday Schools of city to be present and hear him. Mr. Leavel is a charming speaker and is one of the foremost Sunday School men of the country. All are invited to hear him. He will speak at 9:45 and 11:00 a. m. and at 7:00 p. m.

Rev. Trigg A. Thomas, of Louisville, will preach at the Southern Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. B. W. Bass, pastor of the Somerset Church, preached at the Christian Church on Sunday evening. A large audience greeted him. He is a fluent speaker, of pleasing address and made a fine impression.

By a compromise of the will left by Mrs. Rebecca Bartlett, of Memphis, which was finally effected, the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary will receive about $40,000. The money will be paid to the trustees at once and will be used to found a chair in the seminary.

Remember the 18th. Be at the Court House at 8 o'clock on that evening. That's all.

If you don't you'll wish you had gone to the Court House on the evening of the 18th.
